| 25X1         |                     | asked whether analysts who need to be instructed on Initial Reaction Sheets can be identified in advance and what problems can be expected. It was the concensus that the analysts can readily be identified.  Said the choice of for the test is fortunate for CCI, since they are now evaluating reports per a special agreement with However, the Initial Reaction Sheet is "another form and another deadline", so its acceptance will not be entirely free of problems.  Saked whether analysts will be expected to stock their own supplies of Initial Reaction Sheets and was told "Yes." | 25X1A                                     |

The equipment, to be purchased through NSA, will cost about $300,000. We had not expected to need money for this purpose for another year. However, NSA has stepped up its arrangements with the manufacturer and now says a "letter of intent" must be submitted by 15 March 1959 if we want to get in on the original order. The letter of intent must be backed by an obligation of funds.    Expressed the view that DD/I should initiate the request for such funds. |
